Drive Against Dollar Drain Shows Only Small Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's drive to mobilize the nation in defense of the dollar has had only spotty success and apparently will fall far short of its goal.

The target set by Johnson on New Year's Day was to cut $3 billion from the nation's 1967 balance of payments deficit, which rose to an ominous figure of $3.57 billion.

In the nearly six months since, the President's main success was getting Congress to approve a 10 per cent income tax surcharge, which along with an accompanying $6 billion in spending cuts was expected to help restore confidence overseas in the stability of the dollar.

Because the balance of payments deficit—what the United States spent overseas over what it took in—had risen so high there had been concern in the world's banking centers about inflation and the drain on American gold holdings.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler told the Senate Finance

Committee Tuesday there had been "a quick and quite substantial recovery" in the first quarter of this year when the payments deficit fell to $606 million.

If the $606 million figure is projected for the rest of the year the deficit would fall only to $2.42 billion.

To reach the relatively negligible deficit figure of $500 million to $600 million, Johnson had sought a combination of legislation and controls, both mandatory and voluntary. These involved:

—A mandatory $1 billion curtailment in direct industry investment overseas.

—A $500 million voluntary reduction on bank loans abroad.

—A $350 million voluntary cutback in travel outside the country.

—A drop of $500 million in government spending.

—A $500 million savings by enlarging the U.S. surplus in merchandise trade.

Trudeau, Liberals Win by Landslide In Canadian Vote

TORONTO (AP) — It was a Trudeau tidal wave, and it gave his party a clearcut mandate to rule Canada with a strength no party has enjoyed in six years.

In Tuesday's election Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who entered politics only three years ago, led his Liberals to the biggest victory any party has scored since John Diefenbaker's prime. Diefenbaker in 1958 spearheaded the Conservatives to a landslide triumph that was good for four years' control.

Trudeau became Liberal leader, and thus prime minister, by choice of a party convention two months ago when Lester B. Pearson retired. Tuesday Canadian voters had the chance to ratify or repudiate the choice. Their answer gave the Liberals the House of Commons majority they had never won under Pearson's leadership.

Trudeau on assuming the prime ministry vowed to improve his party's standing. As the leading party, even lacking a majority, the Liberals could call an election at a time they thought advantageous. Trudeau and his aides judged this a good time, and the bet paid off.

How did he do it? There is no question of Trudeau's personal appeal, evidenced in the reaction of happy throngs that greeted him on the campaign trail across the country. But as the campaign progressed he also showed himself a pragmatic and tough politician. He said the right things and made no big promises.

In contrast, the Conservatives, though also under new leadership, never caught popular fancy. Robert Stanfield, the Nova Scotian who replaced Diefenbaker last year, said as the returns rolled in that he had known 24 hours earlier that his party was beaten.

Tabulations today showed the Liberals were sure of 153 seats. The Conservatives had 70 and were leading in two contests. The New Democratic Party took 23, the Creditistes of Quebec 15, and an independent 1.

The Social Credit Party was eliminated from Parliament. It had four members after the 1965 election.

The Conservatives showed strength in the Atlantic provinces, winning 25 seats to the Liberals' 7. That trend was easily overcome in more populous provinces.

The Liberals led 55-4 in Quebec and 65-16 in Ontario. They picked up more than a dozen seats in the Prairie provinces and British Columbia.

Preliminary figures on the nationwide popular vote showed the Liberals won 46 per cent, the Conservatives 31, with the rest scattered.

Public's Reaction Strong Against Johnson Gun Plan

GOP Senators Undecided On Warren Case Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans are questioning whether they can—or should try to—block any attempt by President Johnson to name a successor to Earl Warren as chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Tuesday there is a question of policy whether Johnson should try to replace Warren "in the shank of his administration."

But Dirksen also said there is a question of whether a refusal to confirm a nominee before Johnson steps out of the White House would be an intrusion by Congress on executive powers.

While Dirksen was commenting after a luncheon meeting of Warren in California discussed for the first time reports that he is retiring.

He said he had given President Johnson a letter about his retirement plans but, "as a matter of courtesy... the contents should come from him."

"The President should make any announcement about the letter, whenever it may be," Warren told newsmen at the San Francisco Airport as he arrived in the state for vacation.

Although several senators have said they are opposed to Johnson, as a "lame duck" President, naming a new chief justice, none questioned his constitutional power to nominate one.

The luncheon meeting was called to organize GOP thought on the subject. But Dirksen said only three or four senators had a chance to express themselves before the session was cut off for a Senate vote.

The GOP leader said he would not make a statement of his position until his colleagues have discussed it further.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., has said he would oppose any nomination because for "a lame duck" president to designate the leadership of the Supreme Court for many years in the future would break faith with our system, and it would be an affront to the American people."

Similar views were expressed last week by Sens. John G. Tower, R-Texas, and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

Even solid GOP opposition, however, would not alone be enough to block Senate confirmation since Democrats outnumber Republicans 63 to 36.

There has been no official confirmation of Warren's resignation and there is no telling when Johnson may nominate a successor. The timing could be important, because of the law respecting recess appointments.

If Warren's resignation should take effect after Congress adjourns, the President could make a recess appointment to fill the vacancy.

2 Tornadoes Hit in Ohio; Damage Light

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Two tornadoes hit Ohio Tuesday night while a tornado watch was in effect, but damage was limited and there were no serious injuries. Strong winds also caused some damage around the state.

The tornadoes were reported near Cambridge in Guernsey County and in Brimfield, Portage County. The Cambridge area tornado blew a tractor-trailer rig off a highway, tore a pleasure boat from a trailer and ripped roofs off some homes and barns.

At least one house was damaged at Brimfield and several trees were uprooted.

A strong wind storm damaged several houses on Cleveland's West Side and knocked down some wires. Heavy rain also fell in Cleveland and other areas.

Start Probe Of Ohio Pen Arson, Riot

Prison Itself Partly Blamed By Its Warden

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — While investigators launched an anticipated month-long probe into Monday's costly Ohio Penitentiary riot, prison officials said most of the blame must be placed on the antiquated institution itself.

"It's a monstrosity," Warden Ernest L. Maxwell said Tuesday, noting that 2,750 men are jammed into facilities intended to accommodate 1,800.

Maxwell said the riot came "because you're bound to have an explosion sometime when you sit on a powder keg."

Meanwhile, state officials said perpetrators of the riot, estimated to have cost at least $1 million, will be charged with arson on state property.

John McElroy, chief aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, said prisoners convicted of arson on state property could have sentences of two to 20 years tacked onto their current terms.

A five-man Ohio Highway Patrol team is investigating the riot, and Capt. Edward Valentine, head of the team, said 35 inmates had been interrogated so far. He added that the probe probably will take a month.

About 100 convicts were transferred from the penitentiary to the Chillicothe Correctional Institution Tuesday. Maxwell said those inmates were from the psychiatric area and were not involved in the riot.

Maurice C. Koblenz, state corrections chief, said it is unlikely that other convicts would be moved. Koblenz noted that none

Mail Shows Sharp Change In Sentiment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is being flooded with mail running heavily against proposals for even stronger gun control laws, a sharp reversal of earlier trends immediately after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

This development came as the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee started hearings today on strict registration and licensing proposals.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, carrying President Johnson's plea for federal registration of every gun in the nation and licensing of all owners, was among leadoff witnesses before the subcommittee.

An Associated Press survey of 93 congressmen whose mail ran heavily in favor of stricter gun controls just after Kennedy's assassination shows a strong tide now opposed to stronger controls.

The congressmen say they're receiving tens of thousands of letters, running up to 25 to 1 against stricter controls.

Congressmen from the Northeast and isolated areas elsewhere said their mail still favors stronger firearms controls, although by a lower margin than before.

Johnson's recommendations have yet to be introduced in bill form but a gun registration licensing proposal by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., was already before the subcommittee.

Tydings said he also hopes to persuade the full Senate Judiciary Committee at a meeting Thursday to add registration

California's Fire Threat Said Worse

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California faces possibly its most explosive fire danger season in a generation, with no reprieve in sight until the fall, a veteran forester says.

The season started officially a month and a half early in Northern California and "things have not gotten any better. They've gotten worse," said Howard E. Moore, deputy state forester for fire control.

Fire crews still are battling to extinguish the first massive fire of the season, a 45,000-acre blaze in the Angeles National Forest near Los Angeles. The fire was contained Tuesday night.

The early start of the fire season means conditions in July and August will be worse than usual, Moore said.

"I suspect the last time we had conditions really similar to this was before my time, in 1945," he said. "The bulk of the state can't expect any rains until late October or early November."

Old Weather Warning Setup Draws Criticism

CLEVELAND (AP) — Weather forecasters fear that because of federal spending cuts Greater Cleveland boaters will have to continue to rely on a 100-year-old Lake Erie storm warning system.

The system, which operates by the use of flags, involves 21 flag displays from Port Clinton to Conneaut who are directed by the weather bureau here.

Richard Fay, chief meteorologist at the bureau, says that the station also needs up-to-date radar equipment.

"The radar used in Cleveland is World War II relic, taken from a destroyer," he said.

William E. Kennedy, Weather Bureau Port Meteorologist said the whole system of storm warnings "needs overhauling."

U.S. Attacks Hanoi Stand

PARIS, (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam today it was "prepared to cease bombardment" of North Vietnamese territory but was unable to do so because Hanoi has intensified its war efforts when the United States was trying to de-escalate.

"We are very serious about these negotiations," Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance told North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy. "We want them to succeed."

"We think there is a proper basis for peace in Southeast Asia that conforms to the legitimate interests of all the countries of that area, and that we and others should move steadily toward it."

Vance said of the U.S. position: "We are prepared to cease bombardment at the appropriate time and circumstances. Our fundamental premise is that North Vietnam must not improve its military position as a result of the cessation of bombardment by the United States."

Thuy replied, according to his spokesman, with a new demand that all attacks on the North stop immediately without any military reciprocity by the North Vietnamese forces. He said then other peacemaking questions could be discussed here.

The two sides agreed to meet again next Wednesday.

The Americans and North Vietnamese agreed that the talks made no progress. But there was a 42-minute coffee break of which North Vietnamese spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le said: "There was nothing special during it."

The coffee breaks are regarded by American negotiators as a hopeful development for the future when they may provide a basis for private exploration of peace possibilities.

Jet Sets Down At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five passengers of an American Airlines jet passenger plane were injured, none seriously, when the plane made an unscheduled emergency landing early today at Port Columbus.

American Airlines officials said the plane, bound non-stop from New York to Cincinnati, had been scheduled to leave New York at 9:10 p.m. and arrive in Cincinnati at 10:45 p.m. but was delayed by weather. It touched down here at 1:05 a.m.

Near Columbus, the pilot advised passengers that there was a warning light on one of the engines and he was electing to make an emergency stop in Columbus rather than go to Cincinnati.

Rocky Says He's Getting Help from RFK Backers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he's picking up support that had gone to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—and at the same time has kept alive the idea of running with California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"He (Kennedy) had become a symbol to minority groups more than anyone since Roosevelt," Rockefeller said in Albany Tuesday. "I think much of this is now coming my way."

The Republican presidential aspirant said earlier in the day there was "absolutely no basis" to reports he had given up the idea of a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket.

"Although Mr. Reagan himself has said he would not be a candidate," Rockefeller said, "there have been a great many people who have felt there was a possibility of a ticket there."

Reagan has said repeatedly he is not interested in the vice presidency and he told a news conference Tuesday neither Rockefeller nor Richard M. Nixon had asked him to become a running mate.

Reagan, a GOP favorite son, also indicated he would not be entered as a presidential can-date at the Republican National Convention if it is obvious someone else has the nomination locked up in advance.

"Obviously, if the convention is going to be sewed up," he said, "there's no sense in going down there and going through an empty gesture."

He indicated in such a situation he might also release California's 86-vote delegation before the convention. A key member of the delegation has said it would substantially favor Nixon if Reagan were not a factor.

In the Democratic race, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has scheduled a campaign swing through Colorado, North Dakota and Iowa—starting in Denver tonight—to seek delegates and outline his views to voters.

Aides have said Humphrey will concentrate on public speeches this summer to dispel any image of a campaign based on "back room politics" for convention delegate votes.

In other political developments:

—Nixon, in a position paper, called Berlin a keystone of Western security. "Any indication,"

he said, "that we are willing to accommodate to renewed Soviet and East German harassment of Berlin would be an invitation for further pressures from the Communists."

—Third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace set out today on a campaign swing aimed at raising campaign funds and gaining enough voter signatures to get on the November ballot in Maryland and Massachusetts. The swing also will take him through his home state of Alabama.

—Eleven Republican senators, most of them considered favoring Nixon, have criticized Rockefeller for attacks by name against Nixon and Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, D-Ore. "We are dismayed," they said in a telegram, "by your breach of the so-called 11th Commandment not to speak ill of a fellow Republican."

—An Associated Press poll shows Humphrey has at least 19 of Indiana's 63 delegate votes, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy 4, Gov. Roger D. Branigin 1 and Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy 1 with 15 uncommitted. Other delegates were not reached or declined to state their preference.

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — Members of a crowd of about 250 Negroes fought police and looted and threw rocks at stores Tuesday night. Police said the melee broke out after a patrolman shot teen-ager fleeing from a car believed stolen.

The two sides agreed to meet again next Wednesday.

The Americans and North Vietnamese agreed that the talks made no progress. But there was a 42-minute coffee break of which North Vietnamese spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le said: "There was nothing special during it."

The coffee breaks are regarded by American negotiators as a hopeful development for the future when they may provide a basis for private exploration of peace possibilities.

Jet Sets Down At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five passengers of an American Airlines jet passenger plane were injured, none seriously, when the plane made an unscheduled emergency landing early today at Port Columbus.

American Airlines officials said the plane, bound non-stop from New York to Cincinnati, had been scheduled to leave New York at 9:10 p.m. and arrive in Cincinnati at 10:45 p.m. but was delayed by weather. It touched down here at 1:05 a.m.

Near Columbus, the pilot advised passengers that there was a warning light on one of the engines and he was electing to make an emergency stop in Columbus rather than go to Cincinnati.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said that if the committee reports out a bill limited to mail order sales he expects registration and licensing amendment to be offered on the Senate floor.

The letters range from views that stricter gun controls are not the answer to crime in America to fears of too much government control.

INSPECTS FACILITIES — "We need to develop and make better use of our recreational facilities," stated Mayor Richard L. Gerhardt as he inspected Smith Memorial Park recently. The mayor has urged a comprehensive study program of juvenile needs and problems to help the city better serve its junior citizens.

Mayor Claims High Rate Of Youth Problems Exists

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the third in a series of articles on the juvenile situation in Pickaway County. Some contend there is a problem here, others do not. However, all agree there is a need for more recreational facilities as is pointed out in the interview with Mayor Gerhardt below.

Mayor Richard L. Gerhardt first responded to questions concerning a juvenile delinquency problem in the city by stating "I don't believe we have such a problem here. I have great faith in our young people."

Weeks later the mayor countered his previous opinion by stating that Circleville has as high if not a higher increase in juvenile delinquency than the national 13 percent annual increase.

Reason for his changed attitude was attributed by the mayor to information gained by his newly formed advisory committee. The problem is so covered up here that it is possible to overlook it, he commented.

It is difficult to determine the exact increase in juvenile problems within the city because of the records kept by the local government in the past, he remarked. Complaints filed by private citizens and the school did not become part of the city records. The mayor stated that he plans to institute a more efficient recording system in the future.

A MAJOR problem in dealing with the young law offender is that the city and people respond to the act rather than the actor. The don't look to the roots of the problem, stated Gerhardt.

Gerhardt said he believes that the government should be a moving force in changing the attitude and response of the private sectors of society.

There are no hard and fast rules to making such a change, he said, it is just the attitude of the administration, a progressive attitude, that will be reflected in other parts of society.

Recreation for the young people was one of the election promises of the first-term mayor. He still considers it vital to the community.

A large part of the juvenile offenses in the city are related to loitering. This is not a serious offense in itself, he emphasized. But it is a possible indictment of the community for failing to provide wholesome activities for its youth.

Extreme Security To Mark LA Trial of Sirhan Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan will sit behind a shield of bulletproof armor plate and glass if he is tried as expected in Los Angeles on a charge of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

He will be led to the courtroom from a cell through a sealed passageway whose windows will be covered by heavy steel plates.

The County Board of Supervisors decided Tuesday to authorize unlimited expenditures to assure the safety of the 24-year-old Jordanian, accused of shooting Kennedy June 5.

The cost of the protective equipment was estimated at $20,000-$15,000 for work to the passageway and the rest for "armor plate, armor glass, steel plate and wire netting in the courtroom."

Several threats have been made on the life of Sirhan as well as his lawyer and others connected with the case.

The accused was expected to enter his plea Friday on the ninth floor of the Hall of Justice, a floor above the courtroom where he probably will be tried.

But the plan was canceled because the security measures were not ready.

A precise description of the security devices was not made public, at the request of Superior Court Judge Donald R. Wright. But Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said that the shield could be large enough to protect not only Sirhan but also the trial judge, attorneys and jury.

Instead of in the Hall of Justice, Sirhan may enter his plea Friday in the chapel of the new county jail, where he has been kept in a maximum security cell since the shooting.

Observers note, however, that his attorney, Russell E. Parsons, who took over the case from the public defender last week, may request more time to study the lengthy grand jury transcript, or there may be other reasons for delay.

Hahn said the county mechanical department will begin work on the bulletproof shield Friday.

Judge Lamb Hears Two Traffic Cases

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb heard only two traffic cases in Tuesday's session of court.

Gary Bullock, 23, Route 2, Orient, forfeited a $29 bond when charged with speeding 80 miles an hour in a 60 mile zone.

Edmund Taynor, 32, Mt. Sterling, did not have a slow moving vehicle sign on his tractor. He was fined $10 and costs and the fine was suspended.

One fine and five bond forfeitures from out-of-county offenders netted $129.

Extreme Security To Mark LA Trial of Sirhan Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan will sit behind a shield of bulletproof armor plate and glass if he is tried as expected in Los Angeles on a charge of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

He will be led to the courtroom from a cell through a sealed passageway whose windows will be covered by heavy steel plates.

The County Board of Supervisors decided Tuesday to authorize unlimited expenditures to assure the safety of the 24-year-old Jordanian, accused of shooting Kennedy June 5.

The cost of the protective equipment was estimated at $20,000—$15,000 for work to the passageway and the rest for "armor plate, armor glass, steel plate and wire netting in the courtroom."

Several threats have been made on the life of Sirhan as well as his lawyer and others connected with the case.

The accused was expected to enter his plea Friday on the ninth floor of the Hall of Justice, a floor above the courtroom where he probably will be tried.

But the plan was canceled because the security measures were not ready.

A precise description of the security devices was not made public, at the request of Superior Court Judge Donald R. Wright. But Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said that the shield could be large enough to protect not only Sirhan but also the trial judge, attorneys and jury.

Instead of in the Hall of Justice, Sirhan may enter his plea Friday in the chapel of the new county jail, where he has been kept in a maximum security cell since the shooting.

Observers note, however, that his attorney, Russell E. Parsons, who took over the case from the public defender last week, may request more time to study the lengthy grand jury transcript, or there may be other reasons for delay.

Hahn said the county mechanical department will begin work on the bulletproof shield Friday.

A Dangerous Situation

The Senate Preparedness subcommittee has spelled out a dangerous situation in South Korea, which became apparent when the North Koreans seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo Jan. 23, and when they attempted to assassinate the South Korean president.

The North Koreans are itching for a fight, still hoping to reunite their country under the rule of the north. And because of the war in Vietnam, South Korean and American military units in South Korea are dangerously undermanned and underarmed.

Here is a recipe for a bloody disaster. The United States cannot desert South Korea.

South Korea is not South Vietnam. It has a strong, central government. It has a booming economy.

Although the United States still has to maintain troops in South Korea 16 years after a truce was declared, the country isn't as weak as that makes it sound. South Korea has supplied 50,000 tough military men to fight alongside Americans in South Vietnam, and they have given good account of themselves.

If that war were over, South Korea's ability to defend her own borders would improve greatly.

To further tangle the intertwining threads, North Koreans probably are delaying further action until they see how the Paris peace talks are going. If it seems that the United States is weakly acceding to North Vietnam, North Korea will undoubtedly become more aggressive.

Despite the widespread national desire to limit American men and armaments in Asia, the U.S. cannot leave South Korea weak at this crucial moment. To do so is to invite full-scale attack by the strengthening North Koreans.

This might topple South Korea's government and set the whole country back years.

And it would certainly sacrifice the lives of Americans who are stationed in that country.

Values Through Science

As long as science reached its conclusions mainly by logical deduction from ideas already held, its progress was slow. After the Renaissance began it upended this method and started challenging axioms.

Immediately it picked up speed, remade the face of the world, made possible a world of peace and plenty—and produced the hydrogen bomb.

The discoveries of science, scientists said, could be used for good ends by men of good will or for bad ends by men of bad will. But so could any truth.

Values, to be meaningful and successful, must produce good results in people without side-effects that cancel those results. Hence they must be based on what science can reveal about the real nature and limitations of man.

It is an interesting and promising approach. But it comes desperately late in the crisis of civilization.

Greg Morris

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Greg Morris was fortunate to come along in what he terms the age of realization. It wasn't as easy for Sidney Poitier, James Edwards, Harry Belafonte and other Negro actors who preceded him.

Until two or three years ago, Negroes found little work in films and television except as a singer or dancer; or, 2, as the victim of racial prejudice in problem dramas.

That has been changed with the emergence of Poitier as a box-office star of films in which his race is incidental and with the casting of Negroes as costars in television series. In the CBS series, "Mission Impossible," Greg Morris plays operative Barney Collier with little if any reference to race.

"I don't like to be called a 'Negro actor,'" he remarked. "I am proud of being a man, an actor, and a Negro, but when I am referred to as a 'Negro actor,' that immediately places the connotation that I can only play Negro parts."

"But Barney Collier isn't a 'Negro part.' The next actor who was up for consideration for the role happened to be a blue-eyed Scandinavian."

"That's healthy. I think films and television have entered the age of realization, when producers realize that Negroes can play doctors, lawyers, dentists—yes, and villains, too. I've done them all."

"Of the 50-55 roles I've played in television and movies, most of them didn't concern the color of my skin. The most notable exception was a 'Ben Casey' in which I played a black nationalist who hated both Vince Edwards for being white and Sammy Davis Jr. for playing along with the whites. That's all right, too; such viewpoints should be aired so that people can try to understand them."

Greg Morris had an unsettled childhood, being the son of a broken family. He was born in Cleveland and graduated from high school there. After two years in the Army, mostly in West Germany, he went to Ohio State and the University of Iowa, hoping to develop his basketball skill to become a player for the Boston Celtics.

A theater arts course intervened. Married and with one child—he now has three—Morris left college in his third year to support his family. He landed in Seattle and worked as a waiter in the Hotel Olympia while trying to develop his acting in the daytime. He played the Poitier role in a little-theater version of "A Raisin in the Sun," then repeated the role in Long Beach, Calif., where a Hollywood agent saw him.

A local theater presentation of "Purlie Victorious" was the turning point for Morris. It was seen by Carl Reiner, who cast him for the memorable "Dick Van Dyke Show" in which Dick feared his baby had been switched with another in the hospital; it turned out the other parents were a Negro couple. The Director of the show was John Rich, who cast Morris in his first movie, "The New Interns."

Mission: "Impossible" brought Morris to prominence, and the rewards are plenty. He has recorded an album for Dot and is considering offers for commercials. He had to turn down a costarring role in a Rosalind Russell movie because of the series schedule; other film deals are in the works. Well-built, clean-featured and with dramatic intensity, he appears to have an unlimited career as an actor.

The only limits, he feels, will be those imposed by producers, and he believes that more enlightenment is needed.

"Much more remains to be done in the portrayal of Negroes," he argued. "There is a great necessity for Negro children to have black heroes on the screen. My son must see black heroes in order to have someone to look up to. And it is just as important for white children to know that there are black heroes."

"Black villains are necessary, too. Often we are exposed to statistics showing the large number of Negro criminals in this country. If a Negro child is aware of this and sees only blacks portrayed as being pure and wholesome, then he knows there is a lie somewhere."

The biggest need, Morris feels, is for films and television to portray Negroes as human beings.

"The public knows damn little about the husband-wife relationship among Negroes," he said. "I would like to see that explored on the screen. White people may be surprised to discover that we have the same mortgage problems, budget problems, crabgrass problems and teen-age-on-the-phone problems."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there a specialist in more of the solutions, or stances, that are commonly used?

Only recently, on a late nighttime radio program, a doctor who was a guest was described as being a diagnostician and a surgeon. My immediate reaction to this was that it must have introduced confusion to the listeners. In because there is no such specialty in American medicine.

Diagnosis means the recognition of disease by the symptoms and by the use of all clinical methods of examination, coupled with X-ray, blood study and other techniques that are now available. Sometimes it takes dozens of tests to come to a conclusion about a patient's condition. This is the art of diagnosis.

There are some doctors who may be more understanding and perceptive about abdominal conditions than they are about heart conditions. There are others who may be more knowledgeable about diseases of the eyes than they are about diseases of the joints of the body. A diagnostician, therefore, is one who, within the confines of his own knowledge, can arrive at a definite conclusion about a patient's condition. It is interesting to note that it is often necessary to call in other specialists to contribute their valued impressions and opinions in order to arrive at the exact diagnosis of a patient's condition.

To call a doctor a diagnostician is to do him an injustice, because there is no such accepted specialty that conforms to the usual training and certification by hospitals and by the American Medical Association.

It is assumed that any well-trained specialist in surgery, or any field of medicine, will be equipped to make a diagnosis by virtue of his training and experience, but not by the title "diagnostician" that has no validity.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — "Some-day swimming pools are going to be as common as second bathrooms," said the swimming pool marketing man. "Well, maybe not that common but there'll be a lot of them," he added.

The statistics tend to document the latter part of his claim. An industry census shows that from less than 11,000 pools 20 years ago, the total now has grown to more than 800,000. And the growth seems to be intensifying.

By the end of this year, says the Hoffman-Harris Co., a publisher whose figures generally are accepted by the industry, hotels and motels will have built another 9,550 pools, clubs another 1,900, municipalities 1,400, schools 1,700 and homeowners more than 60,000.

Behind this boom in swimming pools are not just higher incomes but basic changes in American habits and attitudes. A swimming pool is slowly falling from the extreme luxury category, for example. To many it is now a health tank.

"The old idea of the swimming pool as something of a Roman bath doesn't hold water anymore," said a spokesman for the National Swimming Pool Institute, a trade organization. "Now swimming is a health activity," he said, "one of the best sports for maintaining cardiovascular health."

Convenience is another factor. People ask themselves why they should drive 40 or 50 miles to and from a crowded beach when swimming can be available just beyond their patio and right next to the television set and the charcoal broiler.

A good small pool, something less than 15 feet by 30 feet, might cost somewhere around $3,000 installed and equipped, although prices range widely. In the middle sizes, between 15 by 30 and 20 by 40, prices generally are a bit more than $4,000.

For the same price, an industry official comments, you could buy a good automobile. "So why not buy a less expensive car and put the money into a pool?" he asks.

Although the most intensive pool population remains in the California-Hawaii and Florida areas, much of the present building activity is in the populous northeastern section of the country, where the Northeast Swimming Pool Association forecasts a 25 to 35 per cent increase in business this year.

Increasingly the pools now being installed are prefabricated of vinyl and are erected partially above ground and surrounded with a wooden deck. But in ground concrete pools, which might cost 20 to 40 per cent more, still are the most popular.

The expense doesn't end with the installation. Swimming pools get dirty, they get clogged with leaves.

In a heavily wooded area maintenance might cost $12 to $30 a month if the work is done by the pool owner. If handled professionally on a regular contract basis, the cost can run to $30 a month.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Greg Morris was fortunate to come along in what he terms the age of realization. It wasn't as easy for Sidney Poitier, James Edwards, Harry Belafonte and other Negro actors who preceded him.

Until two or three years ago, Negroes found little work in films and television except as: 1, a singer or dancer; or, 2, as the victim of racial prejudice in problem dramas.

That has been changed with the emergence of Poitier as a box-office star of films in which his race is incidental and with the casting of Negroes as costars in television series. In the CBS series, "Mission Impossible," Greg Morris plays operative Barney Collier with little if any reference to race.

"I don't like to be called a 'Negro actor,'" he remarked. "I am proud of being a man, an actor, and a Negro, but when I am referred to as a 'Negro actor,' that immediately places the connotation that I can only play Negro parts."

"But Barney Collier isn't a 'Negro part.' The next actor who was up for consideration for the role happened to be a blue-eyed Scandinavian. "That's healthy. I think films and television have entered the age of realization, when producers realize that Negroes can play doctors, lawyers, dentists — yes, and villains, too. I've done them all."

"Of the 50-55 roles I've played in television and movies, most of them didn't concern the color of my skin. The most notable exception was a 'Ben Casey' in which I played a black nationalist who hated both Vince Edwards for being white and Sammy Davis for playing along with the whites. That's all right, too; such viewpoints should be aired so that people can try to understand them."

Greg Morris had an unsettled childhood, being the son of a broken family. He was born in Cleveland and graduated from high school there. After two years in the Army, mostly in West Germany, he went to Ohio State and the University of Iowa, hoping to develop his basketball skill to become a player for the Boston Celtics.

A theater arts course intervened. Married and with one child—he now has three—Morris left college in his third year to support his family. He landed in Seattle and worked as a waiter in the Hotel Olympia while trying to develop his acting in the daytime. He played the Poitier role in a little-theater version of "A Raisin in the Sun," then repeated the role in Long Beach, Calif., where a Hollywood agent saw him.

A local theater presentation of "Purlie Victorious" was the turning point for Morris. It was seen by Carl Reiner, who cast him for the memorable "Dick Van Dyke Show" in which Dick feared his baby had been switched with another in the hospital; it turned out the other parents were a Negro couple. The Director of the show was John Rich, who cast Morris in his first movie, "The New Interns."

Mission: "Impossible" brought Morris to prominence, and the rewards are plenty. He has recorded an album for Dot and is considering offers for commercials. He had to turn down a costarring role in a Rosalind Russell movie because of the series schedule; other film deals are in the works. Well-built, clean-featured and with dramatic intensity, he appears to have an unlimited career as an actor.

The only limits, he feels, will be those imposed by producers, and he believes that more enlightenment is needed.

"Much more remains to be done in the portrayal of Negroes," he argued. "There is a great necessity for Negro children to have black heroes on the screen. My son must see black heroes in order to have someone to look up to. And it is just as important for white children to know that there are black heroes."

"Black villains are necessary, too. Often we are exposed to statistics showing the large number of Negro criminals in this country. If a Negro child is aware of this and sees only blacks portrayed as being pure and wholesome, then he knows there is a lie somewhere."

The biggest need, Morris feels, is for films and television to portray Negroes as human beings.

"The public knows damn little about the husband-wife relationship among Negroes," he said. "I would like to see that explored on the screen. White people may be surprised to discover that we have the same mortgage problems, budget problems, crabgrass problems and teen-age-on-the-phone problems."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there a specialist in more of the solutions, or medicine who is called a stances, that are commonly diagnostician?

Only recently, on a late nighttime radio program, a doctor who was a guest was described as being a diagnostician and a surgeon. My immediate reaction to this was that it must have introduced confusion to the listeners because there is no such specialty in American medicine.

Diagnosis means the recognition of disease by the symptoms and by the use of all clinical methods of examination, coupled with X-ray, blood study and other techniques that are now available. Sometimes it takes dozens of tests to come to a conclusion about a patient's condition. This is the art of diagnosis.

There are some doctors who may be more understanding and perceptive about abdominal conditions than they are about heart conditions. There are others who may be more knowledgeable about diseases of the eyes than they are about diseases of the joints of the body. A diagnostician, therefore, is one who, within the confines of his own knowledge, can arrive at a definite conclusion about a patient's condition. It is interesting to note that it is often necessary to call in other specialists to contribute their valued impressions and opinions in order to arrive at the exact diagnosis of a patient's condition.

To call a doctor a diagnostician is to do him an injustice, because there is no such accepted specialty that conforms to the usual training and certification by hospitals and by the American Medical Association.

It is assumed that any well-trained specialist in surgery, or any field of medicine, will be equipped to make a diagnosis by virtue of his training and experience, but not by the title "diagnostician" that has no validity.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — "Some-day swimming pools are going to be common as second bathrooms," said the swimming pool marketing man. "Well, maybe not that common but there'll be a lot of them," he added.

The statistics tend to document the latter part of his claim. An industry census shows that from less than 11,000 pools 20 years ago, the total now has grown to more than 800,000. And the growth seems to be intensifying.

By the end of this year, says the Hoffman-Harris Co., a publisher whose figures generally are accepted by the industry, hotels and motels will have built another 9,550 pools, clubs another 1,900, municipalities 1,400, schools 1,700 and homeowners more than 60,000.

Behind this boom in swimming pools are not just higher incomes but basic changes in American habits and attitudes. A swimming pool is slowly falling from the extreme luxury category, for example. To many it is now a health tank.

"The old idea of the swimming pool as something of a Roman bath doesn't hold water anymore," said a spokesman for the National Swimming Pool Institute, a trade organization. "Now swimming is a health activity," he said, "one of the best sports for maintaining cardiovascular health."

Convenience is another factor. People ask themselves why they should drive 40 or 50 miles to and from a crowded beach when swimming can be available just beyond their patio and right next to the television set and the charcoal broiler.

A good small pool, something less than 15 feet by 30 feet, might cost somewhere around $3,000 installed and equipped, although prices range widely. In the middle sizes, between 15 by 30 and 20 by 40, prices generally are a bit more than $4,000.

For the same price, an industry official comments, you could buy a good automobile. "So why not buy a less expensive car and put the money into a pool?" he asks.

Although the most intensive pool population remains in the California-Hawaii and Florida areas, much of the present building activity is in the populous northeastern section of the country, where the Northeast Swimming Pool Association forecasts a 25 to 35 per cent increase in business this year.

Increasingly the pools now being installed are prefabricated of vinyl and are erected partially above ground and surrounded with a wooden deck. But in ground concrete pools, which might cost 20 to 40 per cent more, still are the most popular.

The expense doesn't end with the installation. Swimming pools get dirty, they get clogged with leaves.

In a heavily wooded area maintenance might cost $12 to $30 a month if the work is done by the pool owner. If handled professionally on a regular contract basis, the cost can run to $30 a month.

U.S. Detente with Cuba Seen Long Way Off

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
HAVANA (AP) — Would Cuba be interested in resuming diplomatic relations with the United States? Not until Vietnam is settled and not unless the "right man" was in the White House, say the experts here.

Even if those conditions were met, the immediate prospects for a reconciliation look gloomy from here. The political barometer indicates, instead, that Fidel Castro couldn't care less about diplomatic ties with the United States. Or the Organization of American States. Or the Alliance for Progress.

The Cuban prime minister never really has trusted Washington and appears to dislike it even more today, many diplomats report.

They reason that too many changes have taken place in Cuba since Castro broke U.S. domination of the island and plunged the country into a whole new world of communism, alliances and thinking. Vietnam has served to harden Cuba's anti-American stance.

Despite this seemingly rigid position, there are occasional suggestions from East and West sources, but seldom from Cubans, that Castro might be open to some accommodation with the United States. Most agree, however, the United States would have to make the first move.

Washington cut relations with Cuba in early 1961. Since then the gap between this Caribbean island and the United States has widened, aided by the Bay of Pigs invasion, the 1962 missile crisis and now Vietnam.

The resulting isolation has hurt Cuba more than the United States. There is little doubt Castro would like to see the American blockade lifted although he has punched holes in it by increasing trade with Western nations like France, Britain, Spain, Italy, Canada and Japan.

Recalling Castro's statements that Cuba is prepared to trade with anyone, it is suggested that this offer also might apply to the United States. Observers also note that the Cuban government has made repeated efforts to increase contact with what it considers "progressive" elements in the United States—the Black Power movement, Vietnam protesters and antidraft people.

But again most experts agree that any improvement of Cuban-U.S. relations probably would have to be mostly on Castro's terms, a condition presently unacceptable in the United States.

Eastern and Western diplomats say they see little possibility of Cuban-U.S. conversation until President Johnson leaves office and until the Vietnamese problem is resolved. The Cuban government is fully committed to Hanoi and could not be expected to act ahead of the North Vietnamese, it is argued.

There has been no official and little unofficial reaction to a minor flurry of reports from the United States recently that some kind of reconciliation might be in the works.

The visit to Havana this spring of Cyrus Eaton, the millionaire Cleveland industrialist who is always a respected guest in Moscow, aroused some speculation that he came to Cuba with official U.S. sponsorship.

But Eaton told Havana newsmen his only interests during two days of private talks with Castro were cattle and agriculture. On his return to the United States he reported Castro felt there was little chance for resuming diplomatic relations with Washington.

When the U.S. ambassador to the OAS, Sol M. Linowitz, expressed hope that Cuba someday might take part in the Alliance for Progress and, by implication, the OAS, he startled sources here.

Cuba was expelled from the OAS six years ago for promoting armed revolution outside its borders, and since then Castro repeatedly has denounced OAS members as criminals and tools of Washington. Less than a month before Linowitz spoke he punctured the idea of Cuba returning to the OAS by snapping:

The Circleville Herald, Wed. June 26, 1968
Circleville, Ohio

"The OAS, what for?"

Even accounting for communism's ability to pull off the propaganda flip-flop, the idea of a Cuban-U.S. reconciliation still seems unrealistic here. Hundreds of thousands of Cubans are being taught to hate the United States, its culture and its chewing gum.

People-Sized Bedding Is Discussed at Length

By ELEANOR ROSS
Take another look at that cherished antique highboy. It was invented to go with kingsized beds. Many of us think large bedding is a new-fangled idea. Actually, some of the famous beds of the 15th, 16th, and 17th centuries dwarf our king-size beds.

Enormous beds are on view in many museums, such as the Great Bed of Ware in London's Victoria and Albert Museum. The bed measures nearly 12 feet square and rises to well over seven feet to the top of the canopy.

Even ordinary beds of the last few centuries could be called king-sized. In a day when many men were five-foot-four, a six-foot bed offered true people-sized comfort. To get the same proportions of sleeping room, today's six-foot man has to have a mattress at least 80 inches long.

Colonial rooms were mostly small so that they could be heated with only a fireplace. An antique six-foot bed almost filled the room, leaving room for scarcely any other furniture. That is one reason for the antique highboy. It stacked "his" chest of drawers atop "her" chest of drawers to conserve floor space and make room for a nice, big, roomy bed.

The famous cabinet makers of the 18th century believed that the bed was the most important piece of furniture in any bedroom. So they designed big, richly carved beds and scaled down the other pieces so they would fit into the bedroom.

It was not until the Victorian era that bedrooms became big and bedroom furniture heavier. Even then, New England houses tended to have small, unheated upstairs rooms. To save space, the washstand doubled as a holder for toilet articles. The bachelor chest fitted into a small area.

So here we are now, and we find that for the lover of antiques, today's king-sized beds offer dramatic decorating possibilities, some of which we have seen and admired. One decorator pushed a king-sized bed against the wall, installed a brass hook such as those used for hanging lamps, and draped a canopy of fabric which echoed the graceful curves of the antique kidney-shaped dressing table.

Gathered Draperies
Another decorator achieved a four-poster effect by hanging draperies from the ceiling at each corner of the king-sized bed, gathering them with standard drapery department rosettes.

And for perfect coordination, still another decorator sewed four 83-inch draperies end to end to make a king-sized dust ruffle which she attached to a queen-sized 80 x 60-inch sheet. She slipped the sheet between the mattress and box springs and topped the whole effect with a queen-sized spread. The result was a Colonial quilt-and-dust-ruffle bed, big enough to accommodate today's people-sized people.

Misses Donna and Julie Strous of Tampa, Fla., are spending the summer with their father, Don Strous, and their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strous of Rt. 1 and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Jinks of Adelphi.

Approximately 47 per cent of the land area in New York is in forests.

The work of the assorted English music hall comedians seen on the show suggests that American audiences have developed a more sophisticated taste in humor than our British cousins. The second part of "The Cities" on CBS Tuesday night was an inspection of the problems involved in rehabilitating the homes and lives of the millions who are prisoners in the city slums.

The program concentrated on two places. First there was the crumbling Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn where 95 per cent of the population is nonwhite, where illegitimate births and narcotic addiction are commonplace and where the crime rate is high.

CBS showed some of the experiments now in progress to see if the area can be salvaged. Bedford-Stuyvesant is in far too deep trouble even to think now about integration when the needs are financial credit, jobs and job training and better education for its inhabitants.

The other place shown was the Crenshaw section of Los Angeles consisting of $30,000 to $200,000 homes of professional and other prosperous families. Here, seven miles from the Watts section of Los Angeles, whites, Negroes and Orientals have made a good start on building an integrated community.

So far CBS has said little not already known. It has suggested that help can come in the form of massive infusions of money from government and outside sources, by cooperation by business and by a change of attitude by the white population.

The concluding program will be broadcast tonight.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

The rain had ended temporarily over most sections of Ohio by this morning but another low pressure in Illinois was moving eastward and was expected to spread precipitation over Ohio this afternoon and tonight.

High temperatures ranging from the 60s close to Lake Erie to the 70s and low 80s farther south across the state were forecast today. Lows tonight will be generally between 55 and 65.

The forecast for Tuesday calls for showers ending and cool weather prevailing. The outlook for Friday is for fair and cool weather.

Boating Facilities Show Big Increase

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Coast Guard says that boating fatalities on the Great Lakes this year have increased 50 per cent over 1967.

Of the 18 Great Lakes deaths recorded by the end of May, 10 were in Lake Erie, a spokesman said.

Senate OKs Money Bill For Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a $1.8-billion bill for military construction projects around the world, including the controversial Sentinel Antiballistic Missile System (ABM).

The Senate approved the measure 78-3 Tuesday and returned it to the House which earlier had passed a measure about $29 million greater.

If the House does not accept the Senate version, compromise will have to be worked out in a joint conference committee.

Approval of the bill came as somewhat of an anticlimax after the Senate rejected Monday attempts to delay $227.3 million included for acquisition of sites and the start of construction for the Sentinel system.

This is a so-called "thin" line of defense against possible Red Chinese attack in the 1970s. It is expected to cost more than $5 billion, but critics say it is just the beginning of a system that will eventually cost more than $40 billion to guard against possible Russian attack and will be obsolete before it is finished.

Cadiz Publisher Dies at Home

CADIZ, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services will be held Thursday at Grace Chapel United Presbyterian Church in Cadiz for L. Milton Ronsheim, former editor and publisher of the Cadiz Republican.

Ronsheim, who campaigned many years against strip miners in Harrison County, died at his home Monday. He was 73. He retired last April when the Republican was merged with the Freeport Press-Herald.

Henrietta Duck Is Unflappable

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Henrietta the duck was not one to give up just because one of her nine ducklings strayed and tumbled over a 20-foot-high dam.

Henrietta simply herded the eight others over the falls at a Seven Falls trout pool, then went over herself. Then, manager Lee Higgins said, she spent most of the next day trying to herd the ducklings up the bank and back into the pool.

Boards have been installed to prevent a repeat performance.

Negro-White Eviction Halted

CINCINNATI (AP) — Eviction proceedings against a Negro woman and a white woman sharing a suburban Cheviot apartment were halted Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge David S. Porter.

The restraining order was under the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision on fair housing.

A complaint seeking the order was filed earlier in the day by Ann Ogletree, 24, described in the complaint as a Negro, and Suzanne M. Malcolm, 20, and named as defendants were owners of Sinclair Apartments.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Rain and showers were general over Ohio Tuesday and Tuesday night. They were associated with a low pressure and the remnants of tropical storm Candy that moved east across Lake Erie Tuesday night.

The rain had ended temporarily over most sections of Ohio by this morning but another low pressure in Illinois was moving eastward and was expected to spread precipitation over Ohio this afternoon and tonight.

High temperatures ranging from the 60s close to Lake Erie to the 70s and low 80s farther south across the state were forecast today. Lows tonight will be generally between 55 and 65.

The forecast for Tuesday calls for showers ending and cool weather prevailing. The outlook for Friday is for fair and cool weather.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Cloudy with scattered showers or thundershowers south and occasional rain or drizzle and cooler north today and tonight. Low tonight from mid 50s to mid 60s. Thursday cloudy and cool with chance of showers.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO—Cloudy and cooler today and tonight with intervals of light rain. Low tonight in 50s. Thursday cloudy and cool with a few showers in forenoon.

OHIO FIVE - DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will be below normal Thursday through Monday. Highs will average in the mid and upper 70s and lows at night will be in the 50s. Cooler Thursday with warming trend over the weekend. Precipitation will range from .25 inch north and west to .5 inch southeast as showers Thursday and again Sunday or Monday.

Boating Facilities Show Big Increase

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Coast Guard says that boating fatalities on the Great Lakes this year have increased 50 per cent over 1967.

Of the 18 Great Lakes deaths recorded by the end of May, 10 were in Lake Erie, a spokesman said.

Senate OKs Money Bill For Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a $1.8-billion bill for military construction projects around the world, including the controversial Sentinel Antiballistic Missile System (ABM).

The Senate approved the measure 78-3 Tuesday and returned it to the House which earlier had passed a measure about $29 million greater.

If the House does not accept the Senate version, compromise will have to be worked out in a joint conference committee.

Approval of the bill came as somewhat of an anticlimax after the Senate rejected Monday attempts to delay $227.3 million included for acquisition of sites and the start of construction for the Sentinel system.

This is a so-called "thin" line of defense against possible Red Chinese attack in the 1970s. It is expected to cost more than $5 billion, but critics say it is just the beginning of a system that will eventually cost more than $40 billion to guard against possible Russian attack and will be obsolete before it is finished.

Cadiz Publisher Dies at Home

CADIZ, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services will be held Thursday at Grace Chapel United Presbyterian Church in Cadiz for L. Milton Ronsheim, former editor and publisher of the Cadiz Republican.

Ronsheim, who campaigned many years against strip miners in Harrison County, died at his home Monday. He was 73. He retired last April when the Republican was merged with the Freeport Press-Herald.

Henrietta Duck Is Unflappable

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Henrietta the duck was not one to give up just because one of her nine ducklings strayed and tumbled over a 20-foot-high dam.

Henrietta simply herded the eight others over the falls at a Seven Falls trout pool, then went over herself. Then, manager Lee Higgins said, she spent most of the next day trying to herd the ducklings up the bank and back into the pool.

Boards have been installed to prevent a repeat performance.

Negro-White Eviction Halted

CINCINNATI (AP) — Eviction proceedings against a Negro woman and a white woman sharing a suburban Cheviot apartment were halted Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge David S. Porter.

The restraining order was under the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision on fair housing.

A complaint seeking the order was filed earlier in the day by Ann Ogletree, 24, described in the complaint as a Negro, and Suzanne M. Malcolm, 20, and named as defendants were owners of Sinclair Apartments.

Southern Ohio Offers Historic and Scenic Views

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short trips to top Ohio travel attractions prepared for the Circleville Herald by the Columbus Auto Club Travel Department.

Southern Ohio always has been noted for its scenic views, and a drive along the Ohio River between Gallipolis and Belpre has them. But the area also offers some worthwhile looks back into early Ohio history. Perhaps best known is Our House at Gallipolis, an Ohio Historical Society memorial, which has just undergone complete refurbishing to make it an authentic restoration of the inn and tavern that was the center of community life in the early 1800's.

New Drug For Heart Attacks Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A physician today urged extensive testing of a drug which his studies find is effective in preventing heart attacks.

Dr. Louis R. Krasno, director of clinical research for United Air Lines in San Francisco, said the frequency of heart attacks was 3.7 times higher among men not taking the drug than among those receiving it daily.

In testimony prepared for a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Appropriations, Krasno said the 3½-year study has involved 1,400 men aged 40 to 60. Only 44 had had heart attacks before entering the study. Half of the 1,400, including 22 with prior attacks, received the drug, the rest were given dummy pills.

The drug is Atromid-S, whose generic name is clofibrate. Krasno used the tradename in his testimony. It acts to lower the amount of cholesterol in the bloodstream.

"We may have in hand a practical and definitive answer to the ever-menacing problem of atherosclerotic heart disease," he said.

While the results of this study "are impressive indeed," he noted it was too early to make "any definite claims without confirmation through additional large-scale independent investigation." He urged that such research be undertaken "as expeditiously as possible."

Krasno said the study found that men who did have heart attacks incurred a second one 4.6 times more frequently if they were not receiving the drug. Heart attacks appeared to be fatal twice as often in men not receiving the drug, he added.

Baseball bats are made from the northern white ash. Its wood has the right hardness, resilience and weight. Second-growth trees with a diameter of 12 to 15 inches make the best bats because their wood is more resilient than that from larger, older trees.

Built by Henry Cushing, Our House displays an early taproom, including a bar, a ballroom, and other public rooms, while to the rear in a separate building is the kitchen. All rooms are candlelit and fires glow in the fireplaces on chilly days.

Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., except Monday.

Up river, off Ohio 124 is the McCook Monument in a two-acre park honoring Major Daniel McCook of Ohio's fighting McCook family. He was killed in the battle of Buffington Island in a fight against the Confederate, General John Morgan.

Not far away is Buffington Island Monument, which commemorates the only Civil War battle fought in Ohio. Picnic facilities are nearby.

In the river, near Belpre, is Blennerhassett Island, where, in the early 1800's, Harmon Blennerhassett plotted with Aaron Burr to set up a new nation in the southwest.

For a change of pace, Forked Run Lake-State Park offers a full range of outdoor activities, including an enlarged and improved camping area. It provides excellent river views.

A panoramic view of the southern Ohio Forests can be had from the top of Tupper's Plain Fire Tower, on Ohio 681. The best river views while driving are on Ohio 124 and 338 between Belpre and Pomeroy.

If time permits, a drive eight miles below Gallipolis on Ohio 7, leads to the largest roller dam in the world.

AAA suggests this routing to the tour area: From Circleville, go south on U.S. 23 to Jct. with U.S. 35; southeast on U.S. 35 to the tour area.

Dear Abby: Mother's Nose in the Wrong Place

DEAR ABBY: I am in the service and have a little problem. The night before I left The States I surprised my girl with a diamond engagement ring.

Sh acted like she was thrilled to pieces, and of course I was happy, too. Her mother took me aside and asked me if I could get a refund on the ring—well, I couldn't.

Now I get a letter from my girl telling me that she and her mother "traded" in the engagement ring on another one which is bigger and much "nicer." She said her mother paid the difference and I can pay her back when I get home, but for me not to worry about it.

I am not exactly "worried" about it, but I don't think it was a very nice thing for them to do. If you were in my place, what would you do

G.I.
DEAR G.I.: Nothing for the moment. But when you get stateside, size up the situation and make sure your girl and her mother don't have a WEDDING ring waiting for you that's big enough for you to jump thru.

DEAR ABBY: I know you aren't a lawyer, so I don't expect you to tell me what the law would rule in a case like this. All I want is a common sense opinion.

We have a friend (a widow) who started taking dancing lessons last September at a well-known studio. Since September she spent $18,000 on dancing lessons! Yes, I said EIGHTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS.

This woman is not poor, Abby. She has had a lot of fun and met a lot of people, and she probably got more pleasure in the last six months from those dancing lessons than she got from that deadhead she was married to for 30 years. Yet, she is crying that she was had and she took them to court.

I say, nobody twisted her arm to take those lessons, and if she wants to spend her money that way she shouldn't go crying to anybody. My husband says she is out of her mind, and people who are batty have to be protected by law. What is your opinion?

Manslaughter Case Delayed In Chillicothe

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—The preliminary hearing of a first degree manslaughter charge against Ezra E. Nunley Jr., 32, in the fatal wounding of another man was postponed Tuesday until July 1.

Prosecutor Robert L. Purdue asked for the postponement, saying he had not received a death certificate for Edward O. Woodall, 35, of West Hamlin, W. Va., who died June 16 four days after a barroom brawl here.

The leg of a bar stool penetrated Woodall's forehead three or four inches.

Nunley entered a plea of innocent in the case. He is held in Ross County jail under $50,000 bond.

Circleville Owens - Illinois Plant Initiates Program

Circleville Owens-Illinois corrugated box plant, in order to help instill personal pride in plant work and create better communications between plant and customer, has set up a "Customer-of-the-Month" program.

The O-I Circleville plant is a large (192,000 square feet under roof), modern, one-story facility which began production in 1965. It serves a wide variety of customers located, for the most part in Ohio and Indiana.

One such customer is the Sherwin-Williams Company, Cleveland based manufacturer of paints and painting accessories, chemicals for a variety of uses and pigments for paint and printing inks. The O-I Circleville facility manufactures corrugated shipping boxes for Sherwin-Williams paint in cans. Sherwin-Williams was the focal point for one of the first Customer-of-the-Month programs formulated by the Owens-Illinois Circleville facility.

There are two major elements in the program: A colorful display of customer products along with the O-I produced boxes which carry them to market set up in a fixed location within the plant manufacturing area to insure maximum exposure to production employees; A visit to the O-I plant by key executives of the Customer-of-the-Month company to view the display, observe their corrugated packaging being produced and become better acquainted with O-I plant management.

IN THE case of Sherwin-Williams, the sequence of events began with a visit by O-I plant and headquarters staff representatives to the Sherwin-Williams general offices in Cleveland.

At this meeting, an appropriate display concept was worked out, with Sherwin-Williams

GUESS TOTAL BRISTLES — Cecille Conrad (center), worker in the local Owens-Illinois plant, guessed closest to the number of bristles in three paint brushes. The contest was part of the "Customer-of-the-Month" program at O-I. At left is Sherwin-Williams Vice President Director of Purchase R. F. Hennig and at right is P. R. Gilmore, O-I Forest Products Vice President, Production Manager — Converting Plants.

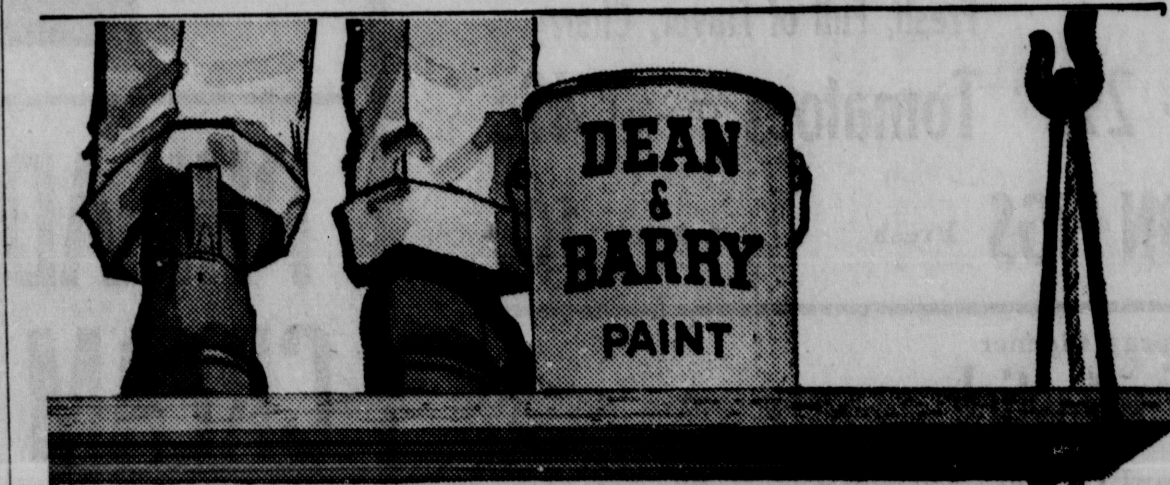

MANUFACTURING PROCESS — Officials of Sherwin-Williams Company inspect the manufacturing of boxes that carry their product as part of the "Customer-of-the-Month" program. Left to right are F. X. Zehnder, Sherwin-Williams Specifications Manager; R. F. Hennig, Sherwin-Williams Vice President; P. R. Gilmore, Owens-Illinois Vice President; and C. F. Hinkle, O-I sales representative.

Williams agreeing to supply a variety of product samples for the display along with a series of backlighted transite panels featuring colorful photos of their products at work. Detail of a special tie - in contest designed specifically for O-I Circleville employees were also finalized.

It was determined that the contest would be built around the O-I employees' ability to guess the total number of individual bristles contained in three brushes comprising the Sherwin-Williams "Professional Paint Set."

The individual with the closest guess would take home the 3-brush set as first prize. Second prize was to be a gallon of interior or exterior house paint to be donated by the local Sherwin-Williams paint center in Circleville. Third prize was an interior wall painting kit — consisting of a brush, roller and pan.

Within a few days after the meeting the display components were on their way to Circleville. On arrival, the display was

Young David Eisenhower In Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Eisenhower, 20-year-old grandson of the former president, has taken his first political job as national chairman of Youth for Nixon.

And he says he's "eager to get going" in his task of appealing to fellow collegians and young people across the country on behalf of his future father-in-law, Republican presidential aspirant Richard M. Nixon.

David, tall, blue-eyed and shy with a shock of unruly brown hair, says polls back up his belief that Nixon appeals to the nation's youth.

Although this will be his first real political job, he's become familiar on the current campaign by accompanying his fiancée, Julie, 19, on the primary circuit.

Because of his performance in the past few months, Nixon campaign pros rate the lad "a natural" for the unpaid chairmanship. Another asset was pointed out by a Nixon headquarters secretary.

"He's got a beautiful smile," she said.

On a visit to the Washington command post for Nixon Monday, David showed he also has an ability to come up with a quick answer on practically any subject.

He thinks Nixon "can bring about a quick termination of the war," the biggest campaign issue is "law and order" with the Johnson administration and the Supreme Court taking the blame for laxity; and the Poor People's campaign has the right aims but he's "somewhat apprehensive about their tactics."

Brown Seeks Judge Ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown raised the possibility Tuesday that some incumbent judges over the age of 70 might not be constitutionally eligible for re-election.

In a request by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe for clarification of the position, Brown cited last week's supreme court decision holding that the "modern courts amendment" to the state constitution became effective on approval by voters in the May 7 primary.

The resolution said, in part: "Any judge who is holding office on Dec. 31, 1969, and who would be eligible for re-election in 1970 for a term beginning in 1971 except for his age . . . shall be eligible nevertheless to be re-elected in 1970 for one additional term as a judge of the same court."

Brown said that since the amendment is already effective there might be some incumbent judges over the age of 70 who are not qualified to continue as candidates in the Nov. 5 general election.

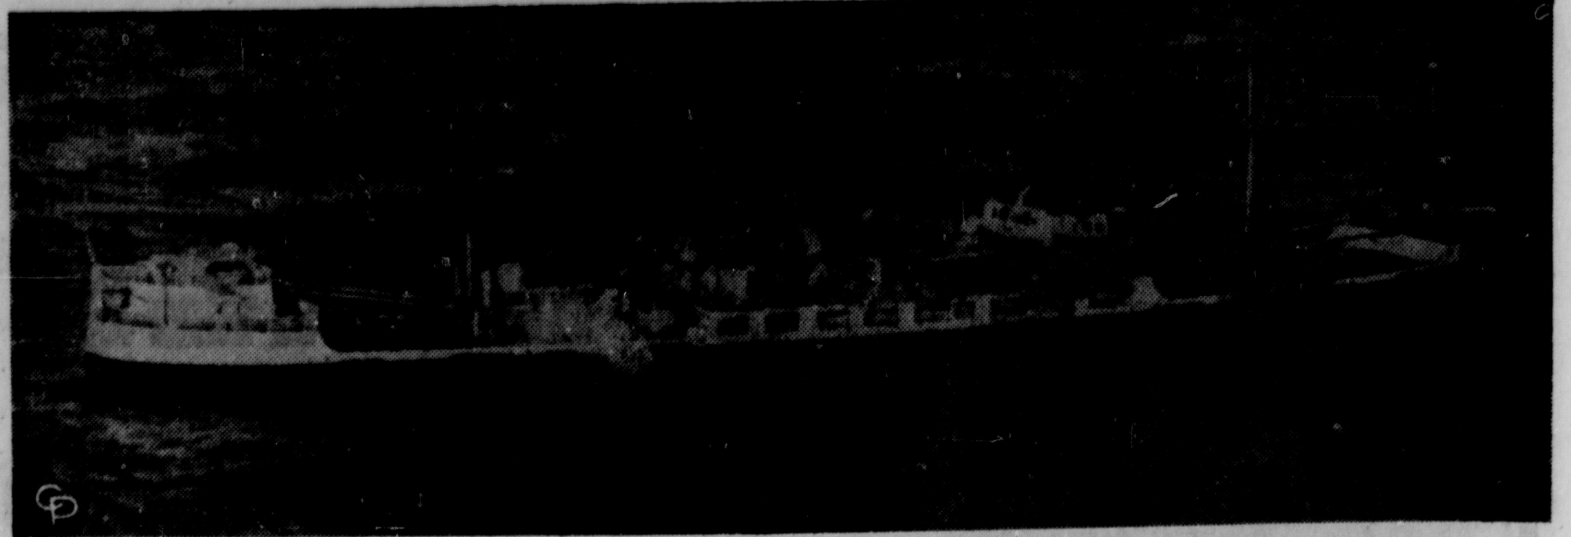

Tobacco Outlook

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — An optimistic outlook for the tobacco industry because of rising cigarette sales and tobacco exports was made by the outgoing president of the Tobacco Association of the United States at a convention. Tom R. Towers warned, however, of "trouble areas and problems" such as "smoking and health crusaders."

Healthy Child Via 'Peekaboo'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Want to raise a well-adjusted child? Try playing peekaboo with it.

Healthy development may depend largely on the games parents play with their children, says Dr. Justin Call, professor of child psychiatry at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center.

A mutual give and take is the key to parent-child relationship in which games develop, Dr. Call says.

The best time to play games, he says, is right after feeding when the infant is quiet but alert. The psychiatrist says games such as peekaboo can help form the basis for a later ability to relate to others, adapt to situations and develop learning skills.

Healthy Child Via 'Peekaboo'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Want to raise a well-adjusted child? Try playing peekaboo with it.

Healthy development may depend largely on the games parents play with their children, says Dr. Justin Call, professor of child psychiatry at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center.

A mutual give and take is the key to parent-child relationship in which games develop, Dr. Call says.

The best time to play games, he says, is right after feeding when the infant is quiet but alert. The psychiatrist says games such as peekaboo can help form the basis for a later ability to relate to others, adapt to situations and develop learning skills.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau Man Who Loves Political Fight

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer

TORONTO (AP) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau says he likes to row against the current, another way of saying he likes to flout convention and do things the hard way.

That is one of the reasons he has become the most exciting and most talked-about politician in recent Canadian history. He has a lot going for him, including the fact that he is intelligent, wealthy, comparatively young and a swinging bachelor who appeals to the younger set and to the women.

These attributes all add up to something that's called "Trudamania."

His swift rise in national politics was definitely against the current.

In 1963 he was not a member of the Liberal party. He was even calling the Liberals sheep and idiots, and was describing their leader Lester B. Pearson as "an unfrocked prince of peace." Normally this would have ruled out any chance for a bright future as a Liberal. But two years later he was elected to Parliament under that party's banner. He became minister of justice in 1967 with Pearson's blessing and liberal leader and prime minister last April.

In Canada's highest elective office he has continued to take the unorthodox approach. Three days after he took over as head of the government, he dissolved Parliament and called a national election—when he could have remained fairly secure for perhaps another year as prime minister.

As a French-Canadian, he might have soft-pedaled the Quebec question as his Conservative opponent suggested. Instead he went into Quebec Province with his doctrine of "one Canada" and his firm opposition to special constitutional status for Quebec.

He pulled no punches in dealing with separatists who interrupted his speeches with heckling. He called them stupid and said that after the election they would "return to the trash cans from which they came."

Trudeau is a youthful-looking 48. He is the son of a French-Canadian father and a Scottish-Canadian mother, and thus fluent in both English and French. His father made a fortune as an oil distributor in Montreal and Trudeau himself is a millionaire from inheritance. He studied law at the University of Montreal and did graduate work at the Sorbonne, the London School of Economics and Harvard. He was a professor of constitutional law at the University of Montreal and a founder of a Montreal social reform magazine called Cite Libre, Free City.

Cincinnati Street Closed by Winds

CINCINNATI (AP) — A one-block section along Walnut Street in downtown Cincinnati was cleared of pedestrians and vehicles for a short while Tuesday night when high winds began to shift 150-pound sheets of steel moored to upper level beams of a building under construction.

Police said the measure was precautionary and traffic flow was resumed about an hour later after the 35-mile-per-hour gusts died.

Rockefeller University Special Indeed

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It happened on a rare day in an ordinary June full of graduation. Twenty-one unusual students followed their learned faculty down the tree-shaded walk to

48-Year-Old Copter Pilot Proves Cockpit Philosopher

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
BIEN HOA, Vietnam (AP) — Ruddy-faced Colver Jones is not just a pilot, he's a cockpit philosopher—twice as old as many of his flying mates and something of a legend. Peering over an undisciplined auburn mustache, the 48-year-old captain fixes young helicopter pilots with a baleful stare and warns: "There is no such thing as an old, bold pilot."

Minister Still Stands with Street Gang

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chicago minister has told a Senate subcommittee he will continue to support a street gang some of whose members have been accused of extorting money from neighborhood merchants and of forcing children to drop out of school.

The Rev. John R. Fry, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church who is to return to the witness stand today, said Monday he will repudiate that gang—the Blackstone Rangers—only if the charges are proven, a possibility he said he doubts.

Fry also denied charges by former Ranger warlord George Rose at a hearing last week of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee that Fry advised the gang on criminal activities, that he passed on murder orders from a jailed gang leader and he allowed the church to be used as an arsenal for gang weapons and for marijuana parties.

Fry testified he acted primarily as legal adviser to the gang and had no direct knowledge of their finances, meetings or other activities.

He said his church paid from its youth education fund $25,000 in the last two years for bail bonds and legal fees for arrested members of the gang.

And he said that although he did not conduct formal prayer sessions with the Rangers, his meetings with gang members were "profoundly prayerful."

This brought a retort from subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who asked: "Preacher, can't you do better than that?" McClellan conducted much of the intensive questioning.

Urge Reports On Effects Of 'The Pill'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two physicians who have just completed a study of several hundred women who take birth control pills say women should not hesitate to report even minor side effects of the pills to their physician.

In most cases, they said, side effects can be greatly reduced or eliminated by changing from one pill to another.

The physicians who carried out the research were Dr. Richard P. Dickey, instructor in the department of obstetrics and gynecology at OSU and Dr. Clyde H. Dorr, a private practitioner of Orlahoma City, Okla.

They found that each woman's own hormone production and tolerance play the most important role in the choice of birth control medication which her physician must make for her.

Dr. Dickey explained there is nothing new or unique about the side effects some women have when they take oral contraceptives. The symptoms, he said, are identical to symptoms of pregnancy, since birth control pills contain hormones similar to those found in pregnant women.

the last steps toward their doctor of philosophy degrees. For all of them, it ended as it began — with taste and style a la Rockefeller.

It happened early this month. The graduating class was nearly all Phi Beta Kappa or its scientific counterpart Sigma XI. The graduates walked double file, led and flanked by the faculty of Rockefeller University. The faculty outnumbered the student body nearly 4 to 1, includes four Nobel Prize winners and other academic lights.

The procession marched informally, not to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," but to selections by the 16th century English composer Anthony Holborne, played for this occasion by a quintet, the Venetian Brass.

In the dome-shaped auditorium, the procession stepped down the black carpeted center aisle between rows of plush red seats, students and teachers taking places on stage. There was no formal speech, no fancy rhetoric.

Instead, each faculty sponsor presented his student candidate. He spoke of him by his first or familiar name, talked of his research, its roots in scientific history, its aim for the future.

The professor recalled the successes and disappointments over the years they worked together, remembered their first meeting, or the patience of a student's wife, or the student's first confrontation with a laboratory mouse, or the quirks and habits only friends get to know. It was all reflective of the close, constant interaction in this unique university on the East River, four city blocks of the best money can buy.

For some, leaving Rockefeller is difficult. For others, it is regretful, but an opening to the future.

For all of them Rockefeller University was a unique experience. Classes were small, rarely more than three students, when there were classes at all. Most teaching is done on a tutorial one-to-one basis, teacher and student. Most of the faculty are researchers, not teachers.

Anything they need is produced on the university grounds. New bookshelves or equipment stands? Call the carpentry shop. A special piece of glassware? Call the glassblower, give him a design. Special illustrations for a scientific paper? Call the illustration service.

Applications are carefully screened from all over the country. The few admitted are given a fellowship assuring themselves of $2,500 a year. They pay only for room and board, a subsidized bargain at a little over $1,000. They live, if they want to, in special student apartments. The university is endowed by the Rockefellers.

When the graduation ceremony ended, David Rockefeller, chairman of the board of the university, and Dr. Detlev Bronk, retiring after 15 years as president, led the way to cocktails in the garden and lunch catered by one of New York City's most expensive restaurants. Faculty and students, families and wives mingled on the shaded lawns.

That night, students and faculty danced at the graduation ball to the orchestra of Meyer Davis, society's music master. Thus does the Rockefeller graduate, condemned by his own interests to the parsimonious halls of learning, have one last hearty fling.

Marion Approves Riot Ordinance
MARION, Ohio (AP)—Marion City Council approved an ordinance on civil disorders Monday night. The legislation, aimed primarily at controlling riots, also is designed to deal with any emergency that might arise, including storms, floods and major fires and explosions.

It gives the mayor authority to declare a state of emergency and to take other steps necessary to maintain order until an emergency is under control.

Orioles and Indians Winners in AL Tilts

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Frank Robinson, only a pain in the neck earlier this season, and Wally Bunker, nothing but a sore arm this spring, look healthy enough now to patch up the aching Baltimore Orioles.

Robby, raising his average to .270, cracked a single, double and homer, driving in three runs and scoring two behind Bunker's five-hitter as the Orioles cut up Boston 6-0 Tuesday night.

The performances were even more pleasing to the Orioles because the slugging Robinson obviously is back in shape after an earlier bout with the mumps, and Bunker appears over the arm trouble that forced his brief return to the minor leagues.

The victory also soothed the wounded Orioles with only their third triumph in 11 games and lifted them back into a tie for third place with Minnesota.

Cleveland held on to second place with a 6-1 victory over Washington, but no one gained ground on runaway Detroit as the Tigers came from behind for a 8-5 decision over the New York Yankees.

California downed Oakland 7-6 and Minnesota and the Chicago White Sox were rained out in other games.

Robinson blasted his third homer of the season off loser Ray Culp, 4-3, in the third inning after Bunker walked. His single drove in another run in the fifth and he doubled and scored in the seventh as the Orioles remained 8½ games behind Detroit.

Bunker, who helped pitch the Orioles to their 1966 pennant and won a game in that World Series, was knocked out last Wednesday in his first start since being recalled from Rochester of the International League.

Against the Red Sox he struck out seven, walked one and only one runner got past first base against him — Elston Howard doubled and reached third on an infield out.

Sonny Siebert of Cleveland did even better for six innings against the sickly Senators, who lost for the 11th time in 12 games. Siebert, who has one, two- and three-hitters this year, did not allow a hit until Ron Hansen doubled with two out in the seventh.

Del Unser followed with a run-scoring single and Siebert lasted the inning before giving way to Stan Williams in the intense heat in Washington. However, by the sixth, the Indians had built a 4-0 lead and Siebert had his seventh victory against five losses.

Detroit kept its lead over the Indians at 7½ games by erupting for six runs in the seventh inning to overcome a 5-1 Yankee lead in a game delayed three times and 99 minutes by rain.

Dick Tracawski belted a run-scoring double, Mickey Stanley singled in two runs and Willie Horton crashed a two-run triple and scored on Jim Northrup's fly. Northrup's triple added a run in the ninth.

Arrests Made For Littering Darby Creek

Fred A. Schob, Circleville, law supervisor for Wildlife District One, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, reports the first conviction of Ohio's new stream litter law.

"Recent legislation," said Schob, "gives Ohio game protectors authority to arrest persons who place or dispose of any garbage, waste, ashes, cans, bottles, and other items of any unsightly or unsanitary nature in or along a stream, river or lake where the same is liable to be washed into the water either by ordinary flow or by annual floods."

"On June 6, Officer Charles Cooper apprehended two subjects dumping trash along Big Darby Creek. The two men, Jan G. Sands of 51 Volney, Columbus, and John William Sullivan of 133 N. Wayne Avenue, Columbus, appeared before Columbus Municipal Court Judge Fred Donnelly on June 19 and entered pleas of 'no contest' to the charges. Judge Donnelly found both guilty and fined each man $100 and 30 days in the Columbus Workhouse. Enforcement of each sentence was deferred until Aug. 1, with the stipulation that each man donate two day's time to the Division of Wildlife to help clean up the stream banks along Big Darby near where they dumped their trash."

"Our officers have received orders to enforce this regulation," said Schob. "and anyone caught in violation will be cited and required to appear in court."

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Ben Webster drove four winners at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday night.

HARGUS LAKE CATCH — Mike Willoughby, son of Maybelle Willoughby, 319 S. Scioto St., landed this 14-pound, 30½-inch catfish Monday after a 10 minute fight at Hargus Lake. Fishing from the shore, Willoughby used a soft craw tail. He returned the fish back into the water for another lucky angler to catch.

IOOF, Wards, Second Bank, Rotary Win LL Minor Tilts

Little League Minor play netted three co-leaders as IOOF, Rotary, Wards and Second National won their tilts.

The Odd Fellows came up with three in the last to top Savings Bank, 3-2. Rotary shut off a Circleville Oil rally that produced eight runs in the bottom of the seventh to win, 11-9. Wards rode a big first inning to a 7-5 win. Second National blasted First National, 18-10.

Loop leaders are Second National, IOOF and Blue Ribbon Dairy with 4-1 slates. Wards is all alone in the next slot with a record of 3-2. Savings Bank has two wins and three losses and Circleville Oil, Rotary and First National are 1-4.

13 Pacers Slated To Start In SD Challenge Stakes

Thirteen sparkling sophomore pacers will move in behind the mobile starting gate Thursday night at Scioto Downs in the $15,000 Challenge Stakes.

Included in the impressive array of pacing powerhouses is the sensational Nevele Romeo from the Stanley Dancer stable. This full brother to the great Romeo Hanover, has won six of twelve starts this year. His best effort was a dazzling come from behind victory in 2:01 2-5 over Rosecroft Raceway's half mile oval.

The Gene Riegle stable entry of Ozzie Hanover and Preferred Time rates a close second choice on the early line. Ozzie Hanover has won in 2:00 4-5 this year at Scioto, and last Saturday night, Preferred Time unleashed a last half mile in :59 seconds to remain undefeated in three starts this year.

Bruce Nickells will drive the brilliant Batman. Owned by the Quaker City Stable of Salem, Ohio, he won 15 of 33 starts last year, and this season has four victories in six starts. He knocked off an impressive field of older horses at The Meadows in 2:00 4-5.

Emerging to the front in the pre-race statistics last Saturday night was Majestic Peter from the Oakwood Stable of Wapakoneta, Ohio. With the veteran Dick Hackett in the sulky, this handsome chestnut son of Majestic Hanover earned a new lifetime mark of 2:01 3-5.

Little Jerry Way is included in the three-horse field leaving the number twelve post position. Owned by Eleanor French of Washington C. H., this chancy bay son of Jerry Way has won two of four starts this year, and blazed his way to a new lifetime mark of 2:01 4-5.

The famed Canadian reinsman, Joe O'Brien, who has had amazing success at Scioto Downs will drive the speedy Eurahed. Just last year the resident of Del Mar, California won the Scarlet and Gray Cup series at Scioto with King Noble. Last season O'Brien posted 132 wins while winning over a half million dollars.

Christ Boring, the Ohio teamster who won the 3-year-old pacing division in 1966 with the World Champion True Duane, will take Knight Worthy into the gate Thursday night for owner Katherine Eastin of Wayne, Michigan.

Donnie Miller, the veteran Lexington, Kentucky, horseman who helped develop the great Bret Hanover, drew the rail with the fast-improving Direct Sammy. Raced lightly this year, this son of Sampson Direct was photo'd out by a nose in 2:01

Wards came up with nine hits to hand Blue Ribbon its first loss of the season. The Marketmen marked six runs in the bottom of the first.

RANDY Dean pitched the distance for the winners, walking 14, fanning six and allowing only three hits. Tom Starr went all the way for Blue Ribbon, walking just one and striking out five.

Chris Payne doubled with two on for Wards. Herb Sturgell doubled for Blue Ribbon

1-5 at Lexington just two weeks ago.

Rounding out the select field of 3-year-olds is Adios Waverly, owned by Bob and Harry Valley of Waverly, Ohio. A Mortgage Lifter with George Burris, Introvert reined by the genial George Ursitti, and Banjo Time with Dave Guley.

Gibson Eyes 5th Shutout

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson, the big St. Louis right-hander, says he doesn't care about shutouts or any other records. All he wants to do is win.

Gibson will be on the mound tonight in the first game of a two-night doubleheader against the Pittsburgh Pirates, and while "everybody keeps talking about it all the time . . . of course I have to think about it," he said.

The "it" is the major league record recently set by the Los Angeles Dodgers' Don Drysdale of six straight shutouts and 58 2-3 scoreless innings.

Gibson has pitched four straight shutouts and, naturally, the hometown fans and others are speculating on his chances of rewriting Drysdale's record. "But it's hard enough to hold a team to one or two runs, and I'm not going to worry about a shutout."

Rain Stops 3 Ball Games

For the second consecutive night, rain interrupted the action in the Circleville Youth Baseball Program Tuesday.

Five games were played, but showers halted three tilts.

The Mosquito League game between Mac's Goodyear and Block's Shoes was suspended because of the rain and will be replayed beginning 6 p.m. Friday on the Atwater Diamond.

The two pony league games on the big diamond at Ted Lewis Park were both rained out.

In a replay, VFW will meet DuPont at 10 a.m. Saturday and Savings Bank will face Kochheiser at 1 p.m. Saturday. Both games are slated on the big diamond at the park.

Sawyer Resigns

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Tom Sawyer resigned as tennis coach at Mississippi State Tuesday. He will continue as professor of history.

USAC Group Eyes Turbines, Engine Size

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — U.S. Auto Club directors rejected Tuesday a move to ban turbine engines from racing and recommended bringing them into the "mainstream of automotive development."

The directors voted to: —Have a special committee evaluate all USAC championship engine formulas, with the possibility of reducing or adjusting all engine sizes for 1969.

—Permit no turbine engines for competition in 1970 unless an automotive type suitable for passenger car use is available.

—Eliminate four-wheel drive by Jan. 1, 1970.

The special committee is to prepare its report on engine sizes by July 23 if possible or by the directors' September meeting.

Any change would cover the turbine engines of STP Corp. President Andy Granatelli and turbocharged piston engines like the one Bobby Unser won the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30.

Granatelli, whose turbines lost a third of their power by new UAC limits this year, still set a 500 qualifying record last month. But he said any further reduction would eliminate his turbines from competition with the turbocharged Offenhauser and Ford engines now used in the USAC circuit.

The USAC Rules Committee had recommended shortly after the 500 that the turbine be banned from racing because it was uncompetitive with the piston-engine cars.

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the directors' action "means that the turbine and other unique forms of power are still eligible to compete with the more traditional piston engines. The board is hopeful that a reduction can be recommended."

Granatelli said he feels the new proposal is an efficient and ambiguous way of barring his turbine engines.

Granatelli criticized elimination of four-wheel drive which he said combined with the turbine and streamlined chassis to make his car competitive.

Binford said four-wheel drive will be dropped because turbines no longer will require it.

Siebert Pitches 7 Innings For Tribe, Then Gives Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sonny Siebert wasn't worried about his would-be no-hitter. He'd pitched one before and he knew it wouldn't last — and neither would he.

The Cleveland ace held Washington without a hit until he wilted in sultry, 90-degree heat with two out in the bottom of the seventh Tuesday night.

The flawless effort fell apart with three straight hits, Siebert barely finished the inning, and didn't even come out for the next round as reliever Stan Williams wrapped up the 6-1 victory.

Siebert, 7-5, said, "I knew I had a no - hitter going. But I knew I was running out of gas, too. So I didn't get too excited about it."

Siebert shed 10 pounds in the humid, stifling heat. He said he weighed in at 188 after the game in contrast to his usual 198.

The FOPA defeated Hill's Implement, 14-3, Tuesday in a Mosquito League Game played on the South Court St. diamond. The game between Mac's Goodyear and Block's Shoes was postponed by rain and will be played 6 p.m. Friday at Atwater.

Brian Price paced the winners, slamming a homerun and a triple. Both times the bases were loaded, giving Price seven RBIs in two trips to the plate. Joe Mogan and Jim Walker also hit triples.

Mogan was the winning pitcher, striking out eight and walking seven and holding the Hill Implement team to two hits.

JERRY Strawser whiffed 11, walked 25 and allowed eight hits.

Jim Walker made an unassisted double play for the winners. The FOPA team has a 1-2 record for the season and Hill's Implement is winless.

Orioles and Indians Winners in AL Tilts

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Robinson, only a pain in the neck earlier this season, and Wally Bunker, nothing but a sore arm this spring, look healthy enough now to patch up the aching Baltimore Orioles.

Robby, raising his average to .270, cracked a single, double and homer, driving in three runs and scoring two behind Bunker's five-hitter as the Orioles cut up Boston 6-0 Tuesday night.

The performances were even more pleasing to the Orioles because the slugging Robinson obviously is back in shape after an earlier bout with the mumps, and Bunker appears over the arm trouble that forced his brief return to the minor leagues.

The victory also soothed the wounded Orioles with only their third triumph in 11 games and lifted them back into a tie for third place with Minnesota.

Cleveland held on to second place with a 6-1 victory over Washington, but no one gained ground on runaway Detroit as the Tigers came from behind for a 8-5 decision over the New York Yankees.

California downed Oakland 7-6 and Minnesota and the Chicago White Sox were rained out in other games.

Robinson blasted his third homer of the season off loser Ray Culp, 4-3, in the third inning after Bunker walked. His single drove in another run in the fifth and he doubled and scored in the seventh as the Orioles remained 8½ games behind Detroit.

Bunker, who helped pitch the Orioles to their 1966 pennant and won a game in that World Series, was knocked out last Wednesday in his first start since being recalled from Rochester of the International League.

Against the Red Sox he struck out seven, walked one and only one runner got past first base against him — Elston Howard doubled and reached third on an infield out.

Sonny Siebert of Cleveland did even better for six innings against the sickly Senators, who lost for the 11th time in 12 games. Siebert, who has one, two- and three-hitters this year, did not allow a hit until Ron Hansen doubled with two out in the seventh.

Del Unser followed with a run-scoring single and Siebert lasted the inning before giving way to Stan Williams in the intense heat in Washington. However, by the sixth, the Indians had built a 4-0 lead and Siebert had his seventh victory against five losses.

Detroit kept its lead over the Indians at 7½ games by erupting for six runs in the seventh inning to overcome a 5-1 Yankee lead in a game delayed three times and 99 minutes by rain.

Dick Tracewski belted a run-scoring double, Mickey Stanley singled in two runs and Willie Horton crashed a two-run triple and scored on Jim Northrup's fly. Northrup's triple added a run in the ninth.

Arrests Made For Littering Darby Creek

Fred A. Schob, Circleville, law supervisor for Wildlife District One, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, reports the first conviction of Ohio's new stream litter law.

"Recent legislation," said Schob, "gives Ohio game protectors authority to arrest persons who place or dispose any garbage, waste, ashes, cans, bottles, and other items of any unsightly or unsanitary nature in or along a stream, river or lake where the same is liable to be washed into the water either by ordinary flow or by annual floods."

"On June 6, Officer Charles Cooper apprehended two subjects dumping trash along Big Darby Creek. The two men, Jan G. Sands of 51 Volney, Columbus, and John William Sullivan of 133 N. Wayne Avenue, Columbus, appeared before Columbus Municipal Court Judge Fred Donnelly on June 19 and entered pleas of 'no contest' to the charges. Judge Donnelly found both guilty and fined each man $100 and 30 days in the Columbus Workhouse. Enforcement of each sentence was deferred until Aug. 1, with the stipulation that each man donate two day's time to the Division of Wildlife to help clean up the stream banks along Big Darby near where they dumped their trash."

"Our officers have received orders to enforce this regulation," said Schob, "and anyone caught in violation will be cited and required to appear in court."

Drives 4 Winners
WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Ben Webster drove four winners at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday night.

HARGUS LAKE CATCH — Mike Willoughby, son of Maybelle Willoughby, 319 S. Scioto St., landed this 14-pound, 30¼-inch catfish Monday after a 10 minute fight at Hargus Lake. Fishing from the shore, Willoughby used a soft craw tail. He returned the fish back into the water for another lucky angler to catch.

IOOF, Wards, Second Bank, Rotary Win LL Minor Tilts

Little League Minor play netted three co-leaders as IOOF, Rotary, Wards and Second National won their tilts.

The Odd Fellows came up with three in the last to top Savings Bank, 3-2. Rotary shut off a Circleville Oil rally that produced eight runs in the bottom of the seventh to win, 11-9. Wards rode a big first inning to a 7-5 win. Second National blasted First National, 18-10.

Loop leaders are Second National, IOOF and Blue Ribbon Dairy with 4-1 slates. Wards is all alone in the next slot with a record of 3-2. Savings Bank has two wins and three losses and Circleville Oil, Rotary and First National are 1-4.

13 Pacers Slated To Start In SD Challenge Stakes

Thirteen sparkling sophomore pacers will move in behind the mobile starting gate Thursday night at Scioto Downs in the $15,000 Challenge Stakes.

Included in the impressive array of pacing powerhouses is the sensational Nevele Romeo from the Stanley Dancer stable. This full brother to the great Romeo Hanover, has won six of twelve starts this year. His best effort was a dazzling come from behind victory in 2:01 2-5 over Rosecroft Raceway's half mile oval.

The Gene Riegler stable entry of Ozzie Hanover and Preferred Time rates a close second choice on the early line. Ozzie Hanover has won in 2:00 4-5 this year at Scioto, and last Saturday night, Preferred Time unleashed a last half mile in :39 seconds to remain undefeated in three starts this year.

Bruce Nickells will drive the brilliant Batman. Owned by the Quaker City Stable of Salem, Ohio, he won 15 of 33 starts last year, and this season has four victories in six starts. He knocked off an impressive field of older horses at The Meadows in 2:00 4-5.

Emerging to the front in the pre-race statistics last Saturday night was Majestic Peter from the Oakwood Stable of Wapakoneta, Ohio. With the veteran Dick Hackett in the sulky, this handsome chestnut son of Majestic Hanover earned a new lifetime mark of 2:01 3-5.

Little Jerry Way is included in the three-horse field leaving the number twelve post position. Owned by Eleanor French of Washington C. H., this chancy bay son of Jerry Way has won two of four starts this year, and blazed his way to a new lifetime mark of 2:01 4-5.

The famed Canadian reinsman, Joe O'Brien, who has had amazing success at Scioto Downs will drive the speedy Eurahed. Just last year the resident of Del Mar, California won the Scarlet and Gray Cup series at Scioto with King Noble. Last season O'Brien posted 132 wins while winning over a half million dollars.

Christ Boring, the Ohio teamster who won the 3 year-old pacing division in 1966 with the World Champion True Duane, will take Knightworthy into the gate Thursday night for owner Katherine Eastin of Wayne, Michigan.

Donnie Miller, the veteran Lexington, Kentucky, horseman who helped develop the great Bret Hanover, drew the rail with the fast-improving Direct Sammy. Raced lightly this year, this son of Sampson Direct was photo'd out by a nose in 2:01

1-5 at Lexington just two weeks ago.

Rounding out the select field of 3-year-olds is Adios Waverly, owned by Bob and Harry Valley of Waverly, Ohio, A Mortgage Lifter with George Burris, Introvert reined by the genial George Ursitti, and Banjo Time with Dave Guley.

Gibson Eyes 5th Shutout

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson, the big St. Louis right-hander, says he doesn't care about shutouts or any other records. All he wants to do is win.

Gibson will be on the mound tonight in the first game of a two-night doubleheader against the Pittsburgh Pirates, and while "everybody keeps talking about it all the time ... of course I have to think about it," he said.

The "it" is the major league record recently set by the Los Angeles Dodgers' Don Drysdale of six straight shutouts and 58 2-3 scoreless innings.

Gibson has pitched four straight shutouts and, naturally, the hometown fans and others are speculating on his chances of rewriting Drysdale's record. "But it's hard enough to hold a team to one or two runs, and I'm not going to worry about a shutout."

Rain Stops 3 Ball Games

For the second consecutive night, rain interrupted the action in the Circleville Youth Baseball Program Tuesday.

Five games were played, but showers halted three tilts.

The Mosquito League game between Mac's Goodyear and Block's Shoes was suspended because of the rain and will be replayed beginning 6 p.m. Friday on the Atwater Diamond.

The two pony league games on the big diamond at Ted Lewis Park were both rained out.

In a replay, VFW will meet DuPont at 10 a.m. Saturday and Savings Bank will face Kochheiser at 1 p.m. Saturday. Both games are slated on the big diamond at the park.

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Tom Sawyer resigned as tennis coach at Mississippi State Tuesday. He will continue as professor of history.

USAC Group Eyes Turbines, Engine Size

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — U.S. Auto Club directors rejected Tuesday a move to ban turbine engines from racing and recommended bringing them into the "mainstream of automotive development."

The directors voted to: —Have a special committee evaluate all USAC championship engine formulas, with the possibility of reducing or adjusting all engine sizes for 1969.

—Permit no turbine engines for competition in 1970 unless an automotive type suitable for passenger car use is available.

—Eliminate four-wheel drive by Jan. 1, 1970.

The special committee is to prepare its report on engine sizes by July 23 if possible or by the directors' September meeting.

Any change would cover the turbine engines of STP Corp. President Andy Granatelli and turbocharged piston engines like the one Bobby Unser won the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30.

Granatelli, whose turbines lost a third of their power by new UAC limits this year, still set a 500 qualifying record last month. But he said any further reduction would eliminate his turbines from competition with the turbocharged Offenhauser and Ford engines now used on the USAC circuit.

The USAC Rules Committee had recommended shortly after the 500 that the turbine be banned from racing because it was uncompetitive with the piston-engine cars.

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the directors' action "means that the turbine and other unique forms of power are still eligible to compete with the more traditional piston engines. The board is hopeful that a reduction can be recommended."

Granatelli said he feels the new proposal is an efficient and ambiguous way of barring his turbine engines.

Granatelli criticized elimination of four-wheel drive which he said combined with the turbine and streamlined chassis to make his car competitive.

Binford said four-wheel drive will be dropped because turbines no longer will require it.

Siebert Pitches 7 Innings For Tribe, Then Gives Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sonny Siebert wasn't worried about his would-be no-hitter. He'd pitched one before and he knew it wouldn't last — and neither would he.

The Cleveland ace held Washington without a hit until he wilted in sultry, 90-degree heat with two out in the bottom of the seventh Tuesday night.

The flawless effort fell apart with three straight hits, Siebert barely finished the inning, and didn't even come out for the next round as reliever Stan Williams wrapped up the 6-1 victory.

Siebert, 7-5, said, "I knew I had a no-hitter going. But I knew I was running out of gas, too. So I didn't get too excited about it."

Siebert shed 10 pounds in the humid, stifling heat. He said he weighed in at 188 after the game in contrast to his usual 198.

The Indian hurler said, "I just did the best I could as long as I could. But it was too hot and muggy. I made up my mind I wasn't going to save myself—I was just going to go as hard as I could."

Siebert made the same Senators his victim in a 2-0 showpiece at Cleveland that was the American League's only no-hitter of 1966.

The tall right-hander walked three and hit one batter in the first six innings Tuesday night. He retired the first two Senators in the seventh, then Ron Hansen drilled a line double to left-center.

Del Unser slapped a slow-rolling single up the middle to score Hansen and pinch hitter Ken McMullen followed with another single. Only a running catch by center fielder Jose Cardenal saved Siebert from at least another run and got him out of the inning.

The Indians scored quickly, getting three runs off Senator starter Joe Coleman in the first inning. Duke Sims, who had three hits for the night, drove in one of the runs.

FOPA Defeats Hill's, 14-3

The FOPA defeated Hill's Implement, 14-3, Tuesday in a Mosquito League Game played on the South Court St. diamond.

The game between Mac's Goodyear and Block's Shoes was postponed by rain and will be played 6 p.m. Friday at Atwater.

Brian Price paced the winners, slamming a homerun and a triple. Both times the bases were loaded, giving Price seven RBIs in two trips to the plate. Joe Mogan and Jim Walker also hit triples.

Mogan was the winning pitcher, striking out eight and walking seven and holding the Hill Implement team to two hits.

JERRY Strawser whiffed 11, walked 25 and allowed eight hits.

Jim Walker made an unassisted double play for the winners. The FOPA team has a 1-2 record for the season and Hill's Implement is winless.

Win Dea Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Win Dea, owned by Ed and Jean Dilger of Centerburg, came from behind to win the featured eighth race at Scioto Downs Tuesday night and pay the highest win price in the track's 10-year history.

Going to the post at 60-to-1, the 3-year-old filly was sixth at the head of the stretch but closed fast on the outside to beat the favorite, Mocket Time, by a quarter of a length.

Win Dea paid $124.80, $20.40 and $5.50. That was second only to Redwood Boy's payoff of $253.20 on June 2, 1964.

Bobby Bonds in Record Book

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
For 70 long summers Frosty Bill Dugleby had a secluded corner of baseball's cluttered hall of records all to himself. Then, a young Giant born two years after Frosty Bill's passing cracked the oldtimer's heretofore private domain with one swing of the bat.

Bobby Bonds, a 22-year-old outfielder called up by San Francisco Monday from the Pacific Coast League, became the first modern-era player to hit a bases-loaded home in his first major league game when he connected during the Giants' 9-0 romp over Los Angeles Tuesday night.

The sixth inning grand slam—Bonds' first hit in the majors—matched a feat achieved just once before... by Dugleby, a right-handed pitcher, in his 1898 debut with the Philadelphia Nationals.

While Bonds' blast altered the record book and southpaw Ray Sadecki shackled the Dodgers on two hits, Pittsburgh's Maury Wills ran his hitting streak to 23 games—high in the majors this season—in a 3-2 victory over St. Louis, the NL leaders.

The New York Mets blanked Cincinnati 4-0, Atlanta whipped Philadelphia 6-1 and Houston beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2 in other NL games.

Grand slam homers have become second nature to Bonds, a 6-foot-1 Californian who was leading the PL with a .367 batting average when the Giants promoted him from their Phoenix farm club. Despite his claim that "I don't consider myself a home run hitter," he had swatted eight PCL homers... including three grand slams in five bases-loaded situations.

Bonds grounded out and was hit by a pitch in his first two at-bats. In the sixth, a pair of bases-loaded walks gave the Giants a 3-0 lead before Bonds sent a John Purdin pitch over the left field fence.

Sadecki struck out 10 and limited Los Angeles to a bloop third-inning double by pitcher Claude Osteen until Willie Davis beat out an infield roller in the ninth.

Wills bettered an earlier 22-game hitting streak put together by Cincinnati's Pete Rose with a run-scoring single in the fifth inning, then tripped and scored the deciding run in the eighth on Gene Alley's single.

Bob Veale blanked the Cardinals until the eighth, when they chased him during a two-run rally. Reliever Luke Walker then struck out Tim McCarver and got Ed Spiezio to rap into an inning ending double play, stranding the tying run on third.

Tom Seaver checked Cincinnati on five hits and Cleon Jones laced two singles and a homer as the Mets climbed within one victory of the 500 mark for the fourth time this year.

Braves' rookie Ron Reed fired a four-hitter against Philadelphia for his eighth victory in 11 decisions. Two run-scoring singles by catcher Joe Torre gave Reed all the support he needed.

Hector Torres' sixth-inning triple touched off a three-run burst that carried the Astros past the Cubs behind Mike Cuellar's five-hitter. The loss was Chicago's third in a row and 10th in the last 11 games.

WIMBLEDON SPOTLIGHT — Headlined in the Wimbledon, England, Open tennis tourney are Tom Okker (top) of Holland and Clark Graebner of the U.S., who were to have met in the finals of the London Open Grass Courts tennis championship only to have rain wash it out.

"Where did you go?--Out.
What did you do?--Nothing."

This book title by Robert Paul Smith aptly describes a summer day in the life of a child in Kingston.

The picturesque tree-lined streets of the village lend themselves to tranquil activities for children divested of school's regimentation.

"What's to do?" Why, just everything.

REST PERIOD — There is always something to do while you await the opening of the nearest backyard swimming pool.

BIG GUNNERS — The cannon at the American Legion Post is more than a relic. With a vivid imagination and regimental reckoning it can be used to hold the entire city at bay.

SUMMER RECESS — School playgrounds are among the favorite Kingston places for youngsters to play during the summer months. No school bell rings to interrupt the fun.

MEETING PLACE — The country is just a pedal away for bicyclists and the rural roads were meant for bike riding.

Iwo Returned to Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Iwo Jima, one of the world's great battlefields, reverted from American to Japanese administration today.

In 26 furious days of fighting, 6,821 Americans and 19,000 Japanese perished on the island in February and March 1945.

The Americans gave back to Japan two groups of central Pacific islands—the Volcanos, which include Iwo, and the Bonins which include Chi Chi Jima, the only one in the two groups inhabited by civilians.

Three other small islands—Marcus, Rosario and Parace Vella—related geographically to the major groups are also reverting to Japan.

Small American detachments on Marcus, Iwo and Chi Chi will remain for the time being.

Control of the islands was officially returned to Japan at a ceremony in Tokyo attended by Crown Prince Akihito, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and Ambassador U. Alexi Johnson as senior U.S. representative.

Napoleon Jury Hears Expert

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP) — David S. Cowles of Bera, a fire arms identification consultant, testified Tuesday in the trial of Mark D. Hodges that he felt the bullet which wounded Denise Fortner last Aug. 4 did not come from the gun found in Hodges' possession.

Cowles said that, in his opinion, "The bullet was not fired from the gun accepted as evidence."

Hodges, 28, is charged with shooting with intent to kill Miss Fortner as she rode her motorcycle on Ohio 109. He is on trial in Henry County Common Pleas Court.

State Pension Pay To Climb
8 Per Cent, Says Armstrong

An increase of around 8 per cent in pensions of about 405,000 active members of the three state retirement systems will start accruing July 1, Senator Harry L. Armstrong cited today.

The higher benefits for members of the Public Employees', Teachers' and School Employees' Retirement System who retire on or after July 1, were voted by the 107th Ohio General Assembly.

About 61,000 members of the three systems, who retired or will retire before July 1, were given pension increases ranging to 2 to 24.3 percent, effective July 1, under another measure passed by the 107th Assembly.

"These pension increases and pay hikes voted for state employees last year by the General Assembly, are major steps in preventing the loss to private industry of trained personnel state, county and local government service," Senator Armstrong pointed out.

To prevent a drain on Ohio's supply of competent teachers and loss of non-certificated employees, the General Assembly also has set new minimum standards for teacher salaries, making Ohio teachers among the best paid in the nation, and required school districts to increase pay of non-certificated employees, Senator Armstrong explained.

The new law covering active members of the three retirement systems will increase the formula for determining annual benefits to $82 times years of service or 1.9 per cent of average salary times years of service, whichever is greater, at age 65. The average salary is based on the highest five years.

In other words, Senator Armstrong explained, a member at 65 years of age, with an average final salary of $5,000 a year and 30 years service, will receive an annual retirement of $2,850 an increase of 8.57 per cent.

The new law also will increase the maximum allowance to 80 per cent of final average salary and hikes by as much as 5 per cent the specific adjustments for those over 65 and years of service greater than 40.

It also removes the $25,000 limit on final salary upon which contributions by employees are made and benefits determined.

The new law also creates a permanent Ohio Retirement Commission of three senators, three representatives and three members appointed by the governor along with five ex-officio members — executive directors of the three retirement systems and secretaries of the Police and Firemen's Disability and Pension Fund and the State Highway Patrol Retirement System.

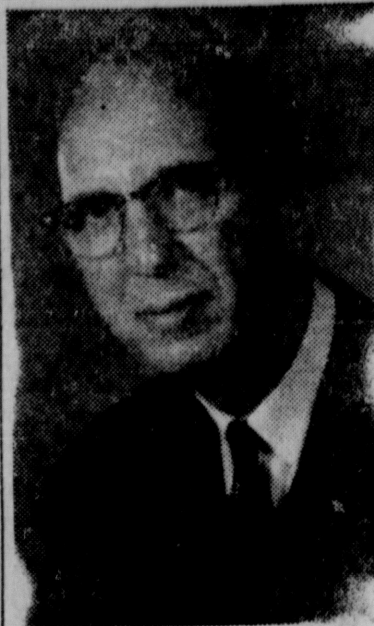

This commission will make an impartial review of laws and administration and the financing of the five systems and make recommendations to the General Assembly on any changes it finds desirable.
